Erhard Hopes Talks Will Be Fruitful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany arrived in Washington on Saturday and acknowledged that his forthcoming talks with President Johnson will not be easy.

He expressed the hope, however, that the two leaders can solve the problems they face. He said that his country's relations with the United States are "not only important, but they are vital."

The Johnson-Erhard talks, to begin Monday, will range over a wide variety of issues. They include such controversial questions as congressional pressure on the U.S. administration to bring back some of the American troops from Germany, the collective management of the Western alliance's nuclear defense, the German commitment to U.S. military hardware, and collaboration in space research.

Top prices in lambs went to Myron Parker, Buhl, $200, for his grand champion 15 lb. lamb, bought by Andy Clelland for Shelby's Market, Buhl. Reserve champion lamb, owned by M. R. Buhl, sold for $104 to the Youngs Livestock Co.

Prior to the sale a plaque was presented to Cecil Blinn, owner of the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Co., in recognition of his personal support of 4-H and FFA in Magic Valley. John Lawrence, chairman of the Twin Falls 4-H Club, presented the plaque.

Klansman, Sheriff Face Trial Monday

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — With Negroes dominating the jury list, a Ku Klux Klansman accused of killing a civil rights worker and a sheriff charged with wounding another face trial Monday.

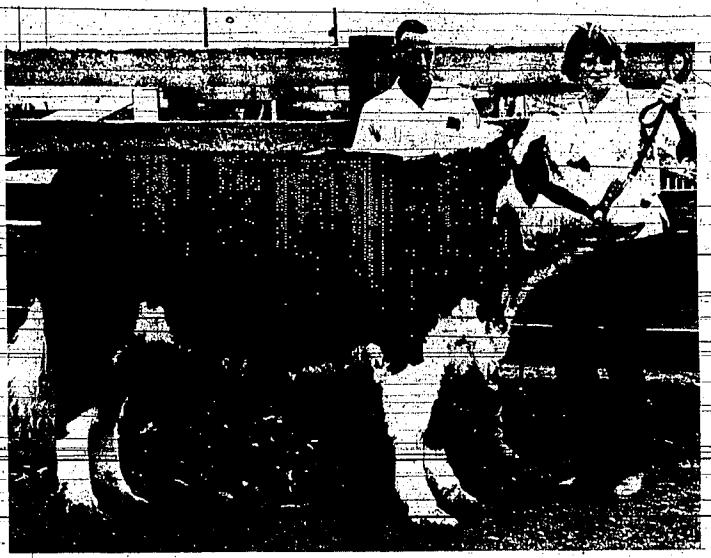

But Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, who is in command of the prosecution, has notified the court that he wants to drop the assault and battery charge against the volunteer officer, Thomas L. Coleman.

Flowers says Coleman, 36, a highway engineer and a member of a prominent Lowndes County family, should have been indicted on a more serious charge. He said Coleman was charged with wounding a Catholic priest, the Rev. Richard Morrisroe, 25, of Chicago.

Coleman's attorney, R. S. Montgomery, says he will insist on going to trial.

Dismissal of the present indictment could leave the way open for a later grand jury to return a more serious charge. The trial judge, W. H. Thomas, Jr., will decide on Coleman's motion after it is formally raised on the call on the docket Monday.

LEAVES SYDNEY — U.S. Ambassador Edward Clark, Austin, Texas, will carry him thousands of miles through Australia.

Pass Test The Selective Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service Service says 81 per cent of the 767,036 young men taking its qualification tests last May and June scored above the passing grade of 70.

It reported that about 22 per cent of those taking the tests received a grade of 80 or higher, nearly 14 per cent got scores of 75 to 79, and about 25 per cent scored from 70 to 74.

The tests were intended to guide local draft boards in determining whether to grant students deferments.

Bar Owner
Tosses Hat in Political Race

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's political world learned even more about Friday when a Coeur d'Alene tavern keeper named Charles Brown Miller filed a nominating petition to run for

Secretary of State. Mr. Miller immediately asked for a legal opinion from Atty. Gen. Allan G. Bower, who said Miller's petition was "void."

Miller said he was running as the candidate of the newly formed "People's Choice" party and didn't need the 1,000 signatures required for filing as an independent candidate.

Slow Congressional Velocity Pays Off for Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slow congressional pace early this year is paying political dividends for the Johnson administration as much key legislation becomes law in the weeks leading up to the Nov. 8 elections. Politicians generally agree that voters are more likely to remember a popular bill that is signed into law amid considerable fanfare in October than one that was signed back in February. Most of the major "Great Society" bills of this year with potential political appeal in the cities, to labor unions and among minority groups have either won congressional passage or are close to it.

The administration's program to dampen inflation by suspending the investment tax credit and accelerating depreciation has won approval from the House Ways and Means Committee en route to congressional passage.

The House is expected to give approval to Senate-passed programs for demonstration cities and water pollution, while the Senate is due to act on the highway bill.

Miller's platform advances the abolition of the state aid to education, a property tax which would be less for developed property than it would be for undeveloped property.

Terrorist Tosses Grenade at Cafe

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A bicyclist riding toward a busy sidewalk cafe last night tossed a grenade into the crowd, killing one Viet Cong soldier and wounding nine others, including two Americans.

U.S. military spokesmen said the grenade was thrown by a Viet Cong soldier who was injured severely in the incident at Gia Dinh, 10 minutes from downtown Saigon. No one has been charged with the crime.

Idaho Air Crash Kills 5 Noted Men

RIGGINS, Idaho (AP) — The bodies of five men — including George Skakel Jr., brother of Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy — were taken Saturday from the wreckage of a plane which crashed in the central Idaho primitive area. The five, members of a 20-man elk hunting party, also included Donn E. Mackham of McLean, Va., a close friend of Sen. Kennedy, D-N.Y. The other killed were Louis Werner II, an investor and member of a prominent St. Louis family; Earl Rantz, president of the Dabar Haulage Co., of Bayonne, N.J., and the pilot, Donald Adams, of Mountain Home, Ariz. Force Base, Idaho. Skakel, of Greenwich, Conn., was president of the Great Lakes Carbon Corp. of New York, which has holdings in southwest and northwestern areas of Great Lakes Washington office.

The five were killed late Friday in their plane, loaded with hunting gear, crashed on a steep, wooded ridge in the Salmon River gorge 40 miles east of Riggins. Idaho Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton said the plane was flying low when it crashed.

The attempt cost Adams and his four passengers their lives, as hot afternoon air in the gorge caused the plane to lose control. The Salmon River helped cause Adams' single-engine Cessna 185 to crash after overshooting the runway, he said.

It was a case of a man taking on more than he was equipped for," said Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton. "There wasn't anything wrong with the airplane."

Adams certainly was not a mountain pilot. He had only 100 hours of flying time, Moulton said. The crash was George Skakel Jr., Dean F. Mackham, Louis Werner II, and Earl Rantz.

The crash last week in which Idaho's Democratic gubernatorial candidate lost his life was a tragedy for the Idaho business community. The problem is that too many pilots think they have the experience to fly in the mountains, Moulton said.

A common hazard is the hot air that can build up in the warm weather, particularly during afternoons, which causes unexpected turbulence and gives airplanes' wings too little lift.

Contract Let
For 22-Room
Filer School

A Twin Falls construction firm has been awarded the bid on a 22-room grade school in Filer. It was announced Saturday by the school board.

Charles W. Johnson, of Johnson and Associates, Nampa, architects, said. Johnson and Miller Construction Co., Twin Falls, submitted the low bid of $670,516.

The local firm underbid nine other companies on the project. Johnson also said that subcontractors for the job will be Crocker Construction Co. and Home Plumbing, Twin Falls.

The school board, which includes complete building of black topping of the school lot, carpels in some educational areas, electrical heating and brick veneer.

Johnson said the new school will have a multi-purpose room, a room, cafeteria area, and a gymnasium. It is designed for future team teaching.

Johnson seized upon the fifth anniversary of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency issue a statement declaring the peace quest will be pushed, "however long the road may be."

Johnson, through press spokesman George Christian, also disclosed that more government representatives both in the White House late next week to discuss one major problem attributed to the Viet Nam war — economic dislocation caused by mounting war spending.

The President, who met with seven governors Friday before leaving for Texas, will issue a statement Monday inviting all governors to a series of conferences.

In these meetings, Johnson is urging a program of restraint at state and local levels to lessen inflationary pressures.

Intervention
Of U. N. Is Rejected

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong rejected Saturday any intervention by the United Nations in settling the Viet Nam war. In a speech in Hanoi at a reception for a Czechoslovak government delegation, Dong said the U. N. would accept peace only on the basis of its four points, first enumerated in April 1965.

—PROVIDING MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT at one of the many White House teas, dances, luncheons, dinners, and receptions, is the United States Marine Band, scheduled to play two concerts in Twin Falls, at 2 and 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 2 in the High School Gymnasium.

U.S. Marine Band Slates Two Performances on Oct. 2

A grueling two-concert-a-day touring schedule will bring the United States Marine Band, "Redcoats" to Twin Falls Oct. 2 with performances at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the High School Gymnasium.

On their 75th annual tour, the men play two concerts in each city visited—and the mornings are spent in traveling from one city to the next. There is a brief period between matinee and evening concerts when the bandmen enjoy relaxation with associates, friends or professional acquaintances.

At home, "The President's Own" plays for all White House functions and provides musical entertainment at White House teas, dances, luncheons, dinners and receptions. The band provides music for all state funerals—at historic celebrations when the President is a guest and acts as Washington's official musical host to all foreign dignitaries—and distinguishes visitors to the nation's capital.

Besides their frequent appearance at the White House and other official functions, they present weekly summer concerts in the Capitol Plaza before thousands of Washingtonians every Wednesday night, and at the picturesque Watergate Theatre on the Potomac each Sunday.

On Fridays, the summer schedule of the bandmen includes weekly evening concerts at the historic Marine barracks. Reservations for the Friday parades must be secured weeks in advance, and the Watergate concerts are always filled to capacity for an hour or more before concert times.

When a musician joins the Marine Band, he knows that his work schedule will be irregular. There is only one very vital part of his working day that remains constant, five days a week—the morning rehearsal period from 8 a.m. to noon. Even this period may be interrupted from time to time with engagements.

It is during the planning season that the bandmen must prepare all of their concert programs, rehearse special presentations, and make their recordings and radio broadcasts. Nonetime means only the end of organized full rehearsal.

There are no engagements scheduled, afternoons are devoted to ensemble rehearsals, conferences with the band's directors and arranging staff, and to individual study and work with the music. The bandmen staff at home, and his wife must adjust her household

Shostakovich Hailed on Anniversary As Great Genius of Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP)—Dmitri Shostakovich, recovering from a heart attack suffered last May, was hailed on the eve of his 60th birthday Saturday as a great national genius of the Soviet Union.

The press was full of tributes to the famed composer. Pravda, the newspaper of the Soviet Communist party, said that in his own lifetime he had come to be ranked with Bach, Mozart, Beethoven and Tchaikovsky.

—Tass announced he had been awarded the title, hero of socialist labor, highest title in the Soviet Union. He is the first composer to be so honored.

Aram Khachaturian, perhaps this country's next most famous composer, joined in the praise, calling him "a great musician of his time."

A new work of Shostakovich, Concerto No. 2 for Cello and Orchestra, will be given its premiere Sunday night at the Moscow Conservatory. Meislov Rostropovich will play the solo part and the orchestra will be conducted by Maxim Shostakovich, the composer's son.

Shostakovich was last reported in a country rest home north of Leningrad, recovering from a heart attack suffered last May. Pravda, which in the past has used harsh words about him, sympathized Saturday for the hard times he had endured because of official displeasure.

"Only a small number of composers in the past have enjoyed such early recognition," fellow Soviet composer Rodion Shchedrin wrote in the paper. "And few of them have suffered more incompetent reproaches—a true cause of official displeasure."

Shchedrin did not dwell on the details of the past but defended Shostakovich as an innovator who writes difficult music.

Shostakovich, who was born in Leningrad the son of an engineer, began studying the piano at 8, entered that city's conservatory at 13, and won international acclaim with his first symphony written at 19.

He first came under official displeasure in the 1930s, when Communist cultural authorities found his opera "Lady Macbeth of Mzensk" too complex for the working class. Pravda said it was "confusion instead of music."

Monte Carlo Business Dispute Ends

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — A long-time feud between Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis and Prince Rainier over how to run this tiny kingdom's gambling casino and vacation business apparently has ended. Onassis is a major stockholder of the Sea Bathing Co., which operates the casino, hotels and other facilities. Revenue from the facilities gives the Meditteranean realm its basic income. In a letter to a meeting of stockholders Friday, Onassis said he will no longer participate in any action concerning the management of the Sea Bathing Company. Rainier, husband of former American film star Grace Kelly of Philadelphia, has urged expenditures to make the resort attractive to middle-class families. Onassis favored keeping the area more or less a playground for the rich.

Buckskin Bill Proposal May Solve Issue

BOISE (Special) — Idaho's "Buckskin Bill," Sylvan A. Hart, occupancy problems may be partially resolved by arrangements of the Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management, according to Joe T. Fallini, state director of the BLM. Fallini said he had been advised by Sam Decker, forest supervisor, Payette National Forest, that the Forest Service would give favorable consideration to "Buckskin Bill" to authorize him a special land use permit for his lifetime or period of occupancy of the Federal lands.

Such a permit would enable Hart to continue to develop his modest irrigation system, trails and other improvements on land within the Payette National Forest. "Buckskin Bill" has lived for many years in a mountain cabin near the point big Five Mile Creek flows into the Salmon River. He gained national attention a year ago when there were reports he might be ousted from the central Idaho Primitive area land because he lacked title to it.

Chance to Be Given to Get ZIP Codes

Twin Falls residents will be offered an opportunity to "zip code" their mailboxes by October, Postmaster Fred Sanger announced Saturday.

Letter carriers will deliver "no postage needed" ZIP codes to each of Twin Falls' 7,000 residential delivery spots beginning Oct. 10. The cards will have blanks for addresses and a box for which individuals don't have the proper ZIP codes.

After filling in the street numbers, cities and states for each of the addresses, the cards are to be mailed back to the postmaster. Post office personnel will add the proper ZIP codes and return the cards to the sender.

"This is a good time to get the ZIP codes that are missing from your list," Sanger noted. "This Christmas, use of ZIP codes will be as important as shipping and mailing early for the efficient and sure delivery of the record — breaking avalanche of mail expected in the weeks preceding the holiday season," he added.

Addresses which cannot be ZIP coded because of insufficient or improper addresses, or the forwarding address indicated on the card and the codes will be added there. Only addresses, not names of correspondents, should be listed on the cards.

ZIP codes represent delivery areas of the postal service, not individuals, Sanger noted.

Liberty Lobby Asks Meeting With Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Liberty Lobby, which describes itself as a conservative political action group, has asked President Johnson to meet with five persons to be chosen by subscribers to its "Liberty Letter."

The group said in a letter to the President released Saturday that the President has not with many representatives of various interest groups.

But, said Curtis B. Dall, chairman of the lobby's policy board, "I am firmly convinced that many hundreds of thousands of voters — even 27 million of them — are convinced that their voices are not being heard. Our delegation will be prepared to speak for this disfranchised, neglected minority."

The 27 million was an approximate reference to the number of voters who received "B" or "C" grades in his loss to Johnson in the 1964 presidential election.

Dall noted in the letter that Johnson has received at the White House such persons as Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, Dr. L. B. Rosten, William F. Buckley and many other right leaders.

UNION STRIKES

TOKYO (AP) — Tokyo's 350,000 commuters were without public transportation this morning as the city's Transportation Workers Union struck for three hours protesting delays in payment of monthly allowances.

LISTED SEPARATELY
BOISE (AP) — Independent gubernatorial candidates should be listed on the Nov. 8 ballot in separate columns, Atty. Gen. Alan G. Sigmond said in a formal ruling released Saturday.

Shepard said his ruling was based on election laws passed by the 1963 Legislature requiring that independent candidates get the same rights and suffer the same restrictions as party candidates.

MAN KILLED
OXFORD, Idaho (AP) — A 46-year-old man was killed when his car rolled over and plunged 157 feet down a Hells Canyon bank Saturday.

Coroner Harold Whitaker said the victim, Ross Mansor, 25, apparently was driving to work on the Hells Canyon Dam project when a rear tire blew and sent the car out of control.

The coroner said Mansor's father, two, had been in a trailer court in the canyon on the Idaho-Oregon border.

CANDIDATES SPEAK
DORFINO, Idaho (AP) — Two Republican candidates spoke Saturday at the grand opening ceremonies at the Dvorak-Bakke Center in the Clearwater Hotel.

Sen. Len B. Jordan referred to the dam as an example of "the kind of job that can be done if you have the right kind of leadership."

State Sen. James McClure, Republican candidate for First District congressman, said he would like to see the dam project go forward.

The late U.S. Sen. Henry Dworshak, said McClure served Idaho's best interests in Washington.

REMOVES MAGAZINES
LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — A grocer charged under Lewiston law for removing all the magazines from his store "because of the bad influence of the pictures in the magazines."

Holcomb, who owns a four-story grocery store, forfeited a $100 bond on a charge of violating an ordinance prohibiting display of magazines with pictures of "women in a state of undress" in a section closed to minors.

LOST TEACHERS
BOISE (AP) — Idaho continues to lose teachers to other western states but the loss went down sharply this year, the Idaho Education Association said Friday.

Wayne York, the association's executive secretary, said a study by Idaho State University showed 84 per cent of the teachers who leave Idaho go to other western states and 61 per cent go to states adjoining Idaho.

SWISHER SLAMMED
IDAHO FALLS (AP) — A veteran Bonneville County legislator Saturday formed the gubernatorial candidacy of State Sen. Perry Swisher, Pocatello, "just another politician with an overriding ambition to win the governor's chair."

State Rep. Dan Elger, said the endorsement of State Sen. Cecil D. Andrus as the Democratic gubernatorial nominee has destroyed what he termed the "wild knight" aspect of Swisher's candidacy.

Only One Instrument May Have Been Used in Slaying

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — It struck on the head with an instrument that left a cone-shaped hole in the skull of a slain woman, police said today.

The instrument was a single-edged razor, police said, and it was used to cut through a door screen in her home and then bludgeoned and stabbed her to death, the man who directed the murder has been found, but Daley said he has "not yet ruled out" the possibility that a bayonet fished out of Lake Michigan about 40 feet from the Percy's private beach could have been used in the slaying.

No fingerprints or blood stains were found on the bayonet, recovered by Coast Guardsmen.

Daley raised the theory that the killer may have needed only the glass cutter and a single instrument to carry out the attack in announcing that investigators have uncovered no promising leads.

"This is going to take a long time," Daley said.

Daley said Cook County sheriff's deputies, State Police and FBI agents already are assisting in tracing angles of the investigation that lead outside Kenilworth.

He said most persons on an original list of 100 who might have information which could prove useful already have been questioned.

He added that nine "live" fingerprints or palm-prints found in the house still have not been checked out. These are prints which do not match those of the Percy family or others known to have been in the home frequently.

Four Women Hurt in Bliss Bus Mishap

BLISS — Four women hospitalized after the bus in which they were riding blew a right front tire — Friday night — were in good condition Saturday.

Attendants at Gooding Memorial Hospital reported the women were Mrs. Phyllis DeBois and Velma Holman, both Boise; Lois Ernst, McCall, and Lorraine Clark, Glenns Ferry.

Sheriff Verne Royce, investigating officer, said the bus driver, Paul Eusterman, Boise, who was slightly injured, should be commended for his actions both during and after the accident.

When the tire blew the bus traveled some 300 feet off the roadway into a pile of lava rock, but Eusterman was able to keep the vehicle upright. Eleven women were injured, but seven of them were released from the hospital.

The women were on route home from a Home Extension Agent's convention in Pocatello. The mishap occurred about 8:20 p.m., Friday, one and one-half miles east of Bliss on Highway 25.

"The driver did just what people should do after an accident, but never do," the sheriff said. He kept calm and consoled the injured women until help arrived; the officer added.

The bus driver and the other passengers were sent to their destinations on another bus. The women apparently were injured as they were thrown into the aisle of the bus, a Boise "Winemucca stage."

Governor of Malaysian State Fired

KUCHING, Sarawak, Malaysia (AP) — The governor of Sarawak fired Chief Minister Stephen Kalong Ningkan today and named a new chief of state in an effort to end a political crisis.

Ningkan refused to resign Friday after the Legislative Council gave him a vote of no confidence, choosing instead to force the governor of the Borneo State to remove him.

Ningkan has demanded general elections and local observers believe he would be the people's choice. His return to office would raise the possibility of a leading Sarawak out of Malaysia, further reducing the federation already reduced by the withdrawal of Sabah.

The newly sworn chief minister is Pengulu Tawil Sili.

Individual evaluators were Mrs. Leslie Jones and Mrs. John Burkhardt.

The club members hear reports of the workshop held for council officers and chairmen Wednesday at Mrs. Arrington's home. Mrs. Ellis Fuller and Mrs. Raymond Reichert were guests.

The next regular club meeting will be held Oct. 7.

Murals Are Donated for Boy Scout Service Center

Four filled-in windows that look just like filled-in windows, and one public-minded local artist and mix well with lots of paint—the finished product is four colorful murals and a new face for the Boy Scout Service Center on Main Avenue and Second Street North.

Lee Logan, 459 6th Ave. N., painted the panels, each depicting a phase of scouting, that were hung over the windows on the west side of the building Friday. Each mural measures 10 by 7 feet—a size considerably larger than the 24 by 36 inch landscapes that Logan usually paints.

Two Men Die As Trucks Strike Cattle

BAKER, Ore. (AP) — Cattle on the road brought death Saturday to two Colorado truck drivers.

State police said they swerved to avoid the cattle on U.S. 39 in range about 20 miles south-east of Baker.

Their eastbound truck struck a westbound truck, then jackknifed. The truck's trailer smashed the cab. A load of frozen meat spilled forward and took police hours to remove. They said the men apparently were killed instantly.

They were identified as Cecil Ochsner, 41 years old, of Route 1, Oversee City, Colo., and Jardine R. Brandt, Fort Collins.

Two men in the other truck were taken to a hospital in Baker. Attorneys said their injuries were minor.

Effort Made To Attract New Business

PAUL — The Paul Chamber of Commerce is making efforts to bring a mercantile and dry goods business into the Paul area on State Highway 25.

A letter from Judy Kerbs, exchange student to Denmark, was read. The chamber was among the Mindoka County organizations which helped finance her trip.

It was reported that the Arco community is supporting this project and a meeting is being arranged for November to meet with a group from Arco.

A report was given by the central airport committee and the chamber made a resolution to help with the development of a central airport.

It has been suggested that a drop letter mail box should be installed near the new business district on Highway 25. The chamber will look into this matter.

Ford, Chrysler Officials Ponder Price Cuts for 1967

DETROIT (AP)—Ford and Chrysler officials were busy this week-end trying to figure out whether they should cut their 1967 car prices announced this week.

Ford's average increase of $12 and Chrysler's average of $22 or $103, depending on who looks at it, looking sized in comparison with General Motors' $34 average hike.

The nine million people who the industry hopes will put their money on the line in 1967 for a new car may be sure of one thing: The price tag is going to be larger than for 1966 models.

The amount of the GM increase running behind those for the similar 1966 period, Ford and Chrysler are in a see-saw.

Industry observers were convinced that Chrysler, second of the Big Three to announce, would be content to sit back and let Ford figure its way out of the price dilemma. Then Chrysler could match and American Motors, which has not yet announced its figures, could jump into the fray.

A point which could bother Ford in any price refiguring was its original insistence that new car prices reflected only the increased costs of materials, plus additional safety features made standard for 1967.

Thus, if Ford cuts back as it is generally assumed it may be forced to do, it will have to find some place where a materials price cut can be made or somenonstandard safety item re-those which the federal government used when steel companies raised their prices earlier. The auto industry apparently was the mild had done a pretty good job of convincing the administration that it was only fair that the boost Henry Ford II and Ford American public, which the government said wanted a safer car for 1967, should pay for it.

Sen. Jordan Calls for 3-Tax Deductions to Aid Education

By The Associated Press
SALT LAKE CITY—Sen. Ephraim H. Jordan called Friday for three kinds of tax deductions to aid education.

The Republican senator said that the McClellan bill he proposed would give a 100 per cent income tax deduction to individuals for property taxes they pay to school districts.

That way, Jordan said, the districts could raise property taxes without increasing the tax load paid by citizens.

The second change would give teachers' deductions for expenses incurred while they were improving their educations. Other college students would also have similar deductions for tuition.

And the third type of education-related tax relief would give parents tax deductions for tuition paid for their children's education.

Two political candidates, one a Democrat and the other a Republican, called Friday for improvement of transportation, principally between north and south Idaho.

The Republican gubernatorial candidate Don W. Samuelson urged quick improvement of the north-south highway as an aid to development of Lewiston's port facilities.

The Lewiston facilities, he said, "provide the new outlet for Idaho's goods to become a major contender in world trade."

Speaking at a Caldwell Republican supper, Samuelson also proposed a sub-member council to work for better relations between Idaho labor and industry.

Democratic Senate candidate Ralph Harbo also said the Port of Lewiston needed improvement of the north-south highway link, which is now a S. Highway 20.

The former congressman told a Nez Perce County Fair group that an integrated development of Idaho's water and highway transportation would "make the port at Lewiston a thriving center that will benefit all of Idaho."

Harding asked for "efforts to bring slack-water navigation to Lewiston and a four-lane highway from north to south Idaho."

Idaho needs to become a major contender in world trade.

Chance of Andrus' Winning Is Uncertain

By EARLE L. JESTER
BOISE (AP)—An airplane crash took the life of the man Idaho Democrats had counted on to get them into the statehouse after an absence of 20 years.

Now they don't know, for sure, whether his replacement gives them a better, or worse, chance of winning.

The major unknown factor is the sales tax. No one knows, really, whether a majority of Idahoans favor the tax, or oppose it.

The issue will be on the ballot the Nov. 5 election in the trial position on the sales tax form of a referendum. Voters when they drafted their platform at the State Assembly in June, they had planned to place a referendum on the matter was one, for the voters in the referendum and that the party itself should take no position on it.

Their primary election winner, Herndon of Salmon, campaigned on that same view.

Samuelson also had maintained a neutral position but the Republican platform adopted two months earlier, vigorously supported the sales tax, asserting it was necessary to maintain the financial gains it claimed for the state's public schools and public health and welfare services.

But Herndon died in a plane crash and the man the State Central Committee chose to replace him as nominee for governor was just as vigorous a supporter of the sales tax as was Samuelson.

Now the Democrats have a pro-sales tax candidate running on a neutral, party platform while Republicans have a neutral candidate running on a pro-sales tax platform.

State Sen. Cecil D. Andrus, the 35-year-old replacement for Herndon, said he sees no conflict. He says he has been and will continue to be a supporter of the sales tax.

But he said he agrees with the party platform that the decision will be made by the people in the Nov. 5 referendum and the governor who is elected at the same time must live with the decision.

You can get an argument pretty quickly on either side by suggesting that the Democrats will get more — or less — votes with Andrus' neutral candidate than they would have with Herndon, as far as the sales tax issue goes.

Some insist that Herndon, with his neutral stance, would have kept pro-sales taxers in the Democratic ranks and would have drawn votes, too, from the anti-sales taxers. Others contend that Herndon would have lost votes of both — the pro-sales taxers to independent candidate Perry Swisher and the anti-sales taxers to Samuelson.

Washington Republicans Outpoll Democrats 52-47 in Primary Races

OLYMPIA (AP)—Republicans outpolling the Democrats 52-47 in the primary races for nominations to the State House of Representatives, a tabulation of unofficial returns, showed Saturday.

The strong Republican showing, along with a few other indicators, were the basis upon which Gov. Dan Evans predicted the GOP will capture control of the House at the Nov. 8 general election.

Democrats currently hold a 50-39 margin in the lower chamber. Republicans would have to pick up an additional 11 seats to have a bare 50-49 majority.

In Tuesday's primary, Republicans collected more votes than the Democrats in races for 16 seats held by Democrats. This showing was partly offset, however, in three other races where Democrats outpolled Republicans in contests for seats now held by the GOP. As a result, the GOP in effect made a net gain in 13 races.

If they maintain their lead in November, as Evans predicts, they may win a clear cut majority in the House for the first time since 1953.

Much of their strong showing in the primary resulted from the 1965 redistricting law. The Republican minority at the 1963 session, led by Evans, bargained with the Democratic minority for 47 days before a bill to change the House was enacted.

Republicans argued that their candidates for the House in 1965 received 47 per cent of the statewide vote but, because of the way legislative districts had existed for years, they won only 39 of the House seats.

This year, under the new redistricting law, Republican can-

Statutory Rape Charge Is Filed

A former Twin Falls resident, Robert Fulton, was being held in Twin Falls County Jail Saturday night on a charge of statutory rape.

Fulton, 37, was returned to Twin Falls Friday night from Beloit, Kan., on a complaint signed by a 17-year-old Twin Falls girl. Statutory rape on July 1, 1966, is alleged in the complaint.

No bond had been set for Fulton Saturday night.

POPULATION GROWS
BANGKOK (AP)—The population of Thailand increased by more than one million in the past two years, the Interior Ministry reported, to a total of 64,571 as of last June.

In races for seats held by the GOP included: the realigned 11th District; one new seat in the realigned 18th District and one seat in the relocated 35th District.

Udall Opposes Idaho Power Company Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced opposition Friday to a proposal by the Idaho Power Co. to add a 25-mile power transmission line to the facilities authorized by its federal license for its Hells Canyon Project.

Udall asked the Federal Power Commission for permission to intervene against the proposed line, which he said would run from Pallete Junction to Enterprise, both in Oregon; and would cross U. S. forest lands.

At Enterprise—the proposed line would connect with another line which Pacific Power and Light Co. proposed to construct between Enterprise and Walla Walla, Wash., the secretary said. This line also would cross federal forest lands.

Udall said he has been advised that the line proposed by Idaho Power is not a "project" within the meaning of the Federal Power Act and is, therefore, not subject to the commission's jurisdiction.

Montana State Handles Vandals With 24-10 Ease

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — Junior halfback Don Hass raced 60 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown to break open a close game and spur Montana State's Bobcats to a 24-10 upset victory over tough Idaho Saturday. Hass gained 200 yards on 34 carries and also scored in the first quarter on a one-yard burst in a brilliant offensive performance. Montana State, ranked fifth in The Associated Press small college poll, won its third straight game and its first Big Sky Conference outing.

Nonleague placekicker Jan Stenerud put the Bobcats out of reach with a 34-yard field goal in the second quarter. The Bobcats scored twice within 33 seconds in the first period and fought off the determined Vandals and their ripping fullback Ray McDonald the rest of the game.

Montana State turned a recovered fumble and an intercepted pass into its early touchdowns. Hass got the first score on a short burst through the right side of the line and flanker Ron Bain went 14 yards for the other.

Then Idaho came back in the second quarter on Dick Nelson's 59-yard punt return for a touchdown and quarterback John Foruria's two-point conversion run.

That made it 14-0 at halftime. Montana State had bad field position and a punt in the third quarter but quarterback Russ Dodge got out of a bad hole by kicking a two-point safety.

Their Bobcats carried the game to Idaho, got the wind in the fourth quarter and set up a 60-yard run by Montana State stopped Idaho on downs at the MSU 4 and 19 yard lines in the second half and overcame two 15-yard penalties in a row called on the Bobcat bench for protesting decisions.

Tigers Cling To Second, Drop Twins

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Norm Cash's three-run homer in the sixth and a four-run 11th-inning barrage in the seventh helped Detroit to an 8-7 win over Minnesota Saturday and kept the Tigers alone in second place.

The win-put-Detroit—two games ahead of third-place Minnesota, which had a chance to tie the Tigers after a 12-4 win Friday.

Dave Wickersham took the win, allowing six hits for an 8-0 record. Loser Jim Merritt gave up a single to Don Wert and a double to Jake Wood. Before Cash slammed his 30th home run into the right field bleachers. Until the 11th, Merritt had held Detroit to one hit.

Wilson Paces Gophers Past Indians 35-21

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Curt Wilson, Minnesota's scampy quarterback, befuddled Stanford with his dazzling rollouts and laterals, and paced the Gophers to a 35-21 crushing of the Indians in an intercollegiate football game Saturday.

Stanford, ranked as a slight favorite after Minnesota was whipped 24-0 by Missouri last week, had its offense thwarted in the first half by three interceptions of Geno Washington's passes.

By the time the Indians got their passing attack clicking in the fourth quarter, it was too late.

Then Idaho came back in the second quarter on Dick Nelson's 59-yard punt return for a touchdown and quarterback John Foruria's two-point conversion run.

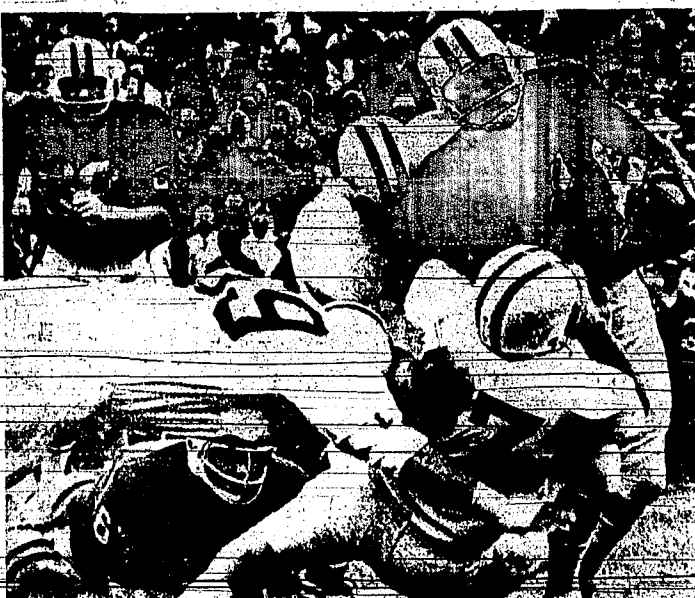

That made it 14-0 at halftime. Montana State had bad field position and a punt in the third quarter but quarterback Russ Dodge got out of a bad hole by kicking a two-point safety.

Defense Lets Wyoming Win 23-6 Victory

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Wyoming's defensive secondary set up a touchdown and a field goal and scored a touchdown on an interception to lead the Cowboys to a 23-6 victory over Arizona State Saturday.

Halfback Frank Bernal scored twice for Phoenix, too, from one and six yards out. Steve Dingham scored for the Vikings in the first period on a 22-yard run. The 80-yard scoring pass play came in the fourth period.

GETTING-NOWHERE, at least on this play. University of Minnesota quarterback Curt Wilson (34) meets a wall of Stanford University blockers during the first quarter of their non-conference game Saturday at Minneapolis. Under Wilson is Blaine Nye (77), diving at him is Mike Hibler (69) and behind him is Al Wilburn. Wilson was thrown for a severe yard loss on the play. However, Minnesota won 35-21. (AP wirephoto)

Blancas Ups Tourney Lead To 5 Shots

EVERETT, WASH. (AP) — Consistent Homer O. Blancas blazed his way through the trees of Everett's Golf and Country Club course for another 65 Saturday and a five-stroke lead ahead of a field of 68 who competed in the $50,000 Greater Seattle — Everett Open Golf Tournament.

The round added to an earlier 58 and a 65 put him at 118 on the 34-hole, 117-stroke under par.

Jack Culp was second with a 201. Next came Don Bles, Seattle, with a 207, followed by Paul Bondeson with a 203.

A "hot" putter and driver that split the narrow fairways here kept Blancas, a Houston, Tex., pro, ahead of a field of 68 who chopped heavily into par before galleries of 4,500. Blancas used 27 putts, one of them a three-footer for an eagle 2, on the ninth hole to fashion his Saturday round.

It's the best I've ever played," said the 28-year-old former Junior Amateur Houston golfer. "I've been off the fairway only twice in the 34 holes. I've never put rounds like 68-65 together before."

Blancas had six birdies and the eagle to offset a pair of bogeys.

His 65 was the lowest in a round of low scores. Twenty-one other players had 68 or higher. Blancas' previous best rounds as they found the damp greens to their liking.

Michigan moved 60 yards in 10 three-quarter plays with Fisher leading from the line and Sygar converting.

The Wolverines' ninth ranked nationally, in The Associated Press, added the conquest of California to their 41-0 triumph over Oregon State last week. The Bear had whipped Washington State 21-0 in their first outing.

"Michigan's rugged defense stopped California three times after the Bears penetrated deep into Wolverine Territory in the first, third and ten.

California finally scored with three minutes, 44 seconds left in the game on a 12-yard pass from Dave Hill to quarterback Larry Brink to 156-pound end Jerry Bradley, coupling an 80-yard drive in seven plays.

Since 1953, the dealership has increased sales steadily, from 200 cars in 1953 to over 1500 in 1965. It has become Idaho's largest Lincoln-Mercury dealership and fifth largest in the entire Panhandle district which is comprised of the eleven Western states.

From five employees in the first year, the staff has risen to 36 members with an annual payroll of over $300,000, doing $3 million a year business.

Emmett E. Harrison is general manager and vice president of the company. Dick Day and Art Herring are sales managers.

Theisen Motors' service department is capably managed by Bill Roemer. Whitey Jones, Customer Relations manager, is the man to see with complaints of any kind; his job is to make sure every customer is completely satisfied with all service jobs and automobile purchases.

John Balch manages the parts department, and the body shop is under the direction of Wilbur Brown, one of the finest and most capable in her position in the division.

Bill Theisen, Continental specialist, states that 1966 has been the largest selling year to date for this luxury automobile.

VANISHING MAIN STREET of Paul is appearing three blocks away all decked out in new garb. A majority of the merchants who formerly were located on the old main street (2) have moved or are in the process of moving to the new "downtown drag" (1). The new location puts the businesses on Highway 25 where, city officials say, "the action is." In addition to lack of traffic on the original main artery in the coming new locations on the highway are expected to hold this picture looks toward the west. Paul is located (Times-News aerial photo)

ONE OF THE men behind the moving of Paul's main street is Harold Wilson, manager of Henry Farm Sales plant in Paul. He also is mayor of the town. With little money available for community-wide participation, the merchants stood the brunt of the moving and improvement expense. and Mrs. Everett Savage came the new helped acquaint business, wh with the new. In 1957 area.

The Main Street of this community is moving to where the action and business is. The Main Street which has been serving the town for years is giving up the ghost. A movement which saw many businesses making a three-block jump to State Highway 25 not only has taken hold, and is being expedited, but it also has caught the fancy and the support of practically everyone hereabouts.

Idaho Street, which was the "Main Drag" for all these years is assuming the look of a ghost street and the highway, only three blocks away to the south, is bustling.

The move was not instigated because the establishments were going broke. To the contrary — it is under way with force because a population increase in the district, a lack of adequate automobile parking and even a lack of space in the various establishments made it mandatory that something be done.

Idaho Street is flanked by a full set of buildings along a two block strip. But the buildings are small and "handicapped" together. They are old. They could have been torn down and replaced, or modernized and joined together, but this still would not have solved the parking problem.

One amusing situation has developed. The post office — only a couple of years old in its new location — will practically have Idaho Street to itself. Other structures will, for the most part, be empty.

The highway location is expected to keep local business and attract transient business. When the Interstate is usable, there no doubt will be a drop in traffic, but the population gain is expected to take up the slack. Then, too, the parking will be easy.

The big change, which has been going on the past few years, was gradual enough that residents didn't realize the full extent until this summer. When it was announced that the Idaho Bank and Trust, Paul Drug and the Farmers Home Administration were changing locations to the heavily-traveled highway.

Along with the recent closing of the Paul Electric office, this is leaving an entire block almost vacant of business. About four businesses remain in this area. Several years ago a variety of establishments served Paul residents.

The businesses would thrive for a period and then drop off or change hands because of lack of community support. In the meantime, a few businessmen were setting up along Highway 25 and were doing well.

In 1952 a lumber company was established on the highway by Art Grove, who later became an itinerant artist to the community and business boom. In 1953 area businessmen organized a community dinner in honor of servicemen who were selected for homesteads on the new Northside Project. It was an annual event for six years

POWERFUL NEW DRUG called "sucrocin" is used by Idaho Fish and Game Department workers to help subdue troublesome black bears and other animals too big to handle by other means. Here, Walter Berry, McCall, regional conservation officer, removes hypodermic syringe containing sucrocin that was fired into bear's neck muscle at close range from Capt. Chur gun. Department Director John R. Woodward appeals to sportsmanship of townspeople who might be tempted to kill a befuddled bear running heedlessly about the streets looking for a place to hide. Severe drought conditions this year resulted in crop failure of berries in foothills and bears now are driven from the woods in search of food, making them unusually vulnerable. Areas within 200 yards of garbage dumps and public campgrounds are closed to bear hunting through December 31 as an emergency measure offering some protection to humans. (Fish and Game photo)

Game Officials Ask Aid of Citizens In Protecting Hungry Idaho Bears

BY JIM HUMBERT
Idaho Fish and Game Department BOISE — Idaho's fame as a good state for bear hunting probably won't be changed much by the fact that several of the beasts that walk like men have been shot this fall within the city limits of Salmon, Boise and McCall, among other towns.

Hungry brought them out of the wooded foothills and the crowded black bears, mostly yearlings, sought cover as they ran hither or skitter through the unfamiliar streets, trailed by yapping dogs and screaming kids.

Some 30 bruins have gone to town this way in the past few weeks. Many of them have been killed as they lay huddled under porches or in other hiding places. Regional conservation officers of the Idaho Fish and Game Department have been called at Salmon, McCall and Boise. Most of the bears have been "translocated" with a "C" — "C" gun, roped and moved from trouble areas where they are a menace, back to the woods.

McCall, the Fish and Game Department suspended the open season on bears and set up an emergency cleanup of the killing or trapping of bears "within 200 yards of the perimeter of any dump and of public campgrounds" in the state from September 17 — December 31, 1966.

People who spot bears where they might cause harm are asked to call local officers of the Department. They are equipped to trap them — homes in the woods.

Director John R. Woodward appealed to the sportsmanship of townspeople who might be tempted to kill a befuddled bear running heedlessly about the streets looking for a place to hide. He said the bears would be hunters — not to pursue bears along roads and other areas where they have been found to go in search of food. Early reports from hunter checking stations are being studied carefully by Department workers. Too many bears show up further regulatory steps to protect them will be taken to prevent a large kill of the bears.

The reason for the limited protection, of course, is that it is much better for hunters to have the sport of going after black bears than to have them killed near garbage cans in forest camps or under porches in towns. The situation is worse now than in past years because the severe drought caused a failure of the wild berry crop. Bears normally feed on the fall, the search for food is causing them to range lower in the foothills, making them unusually vulnerable to men with dogs and guns.

This is the time of year when young yearling bears are driven from the woods by hunters. Bears are protected until next year because there are not many of them left. About 100,000 many black bears as elk are bagged by hunters every year, and something like one-twentieth as many bruins are dead. Definite black bear hunting seasons are found in game management units 1, 7, and 9. These include all of the Panhandle region of the state north of Clearwater and Latah counties. In addition, units 8, 10, 11 and 12 have open black bear hunting season from May 20 to December 31. Bear hunting with firearms is closed, of course, during archery seasons for elk and deer as specified in the regulations. Other special seasons are established for black bear hunting in the Payette and Snake Mountain game preserves.

Writer Will Aid in Story Of Kennedy

BY RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—James J. Fahey, a slum lord who became a school dropout, a garbage man and in his spare time a best-selling author and philanthropist, dropped into town Thursday on a mission with a double purpose:

To help himself in his research into the life and times of John F. Kennedy.

To raise more money for a Roman Catholic cathedral now being built in Metopoli, southern Idaho, and which thus far has been financed in large part by royalties from Fahey's best-selling book "Pacific War Diary 1942-1945."

Fahey presented to the Library of Congress an enormous collection of microfilm copies of newspaper pages relating to Kennedy's saga in detail.

Dr. Roy Butler, director of the Kennedy Library, said he expects to have the Kennedy papers by 1967, when a Kennedy biography is expected to be published.

In an aside to newsmen, Fahey expressed how there would be "a lot of publicity" not for himself, but for his cathedral-building project in India.

Fahey is something of a rarity among slum lords — he has less than a million dollars, for himself, that is.

He was born in the Hell's Kitchen section of New York City 40 years ago. His parents died when he was 2. Cousins re-cued him from the tough neighborhood and brought him up in a religious atmosphere in Wat-

But they couldn't make him like school. He attended high school two years, so he could play on the hockey team, but then dropped out.

In World War II, he served as seaman first class on the USS Montpelier, and out of that grew his war diary. It bears an approval from the famed historian, Rear Adm. Samuel Eliot Morison.

INSTANT LAWNS: Many gardeners and home owners ask me if there is any real advantage to putting in a sodded lawn. My answer is yes, if you want a fast lawn and can afford it. A sodded lawn "kicks" within 10 days and you have a perfectly green carpet almost instantly. A sodded lawn costs about twice that of a seeded lawn, but don't let that scare you.

I've sown seeded lawns which cost three times that of a sodded lawn, so you might be saving money by putting in a sodded lawn. If you have a slope problem, few things will beat strips of sod. Peg them down with a couple pieces of wire until "kicking" takes place.

Poor luck with sod comes from two causes: (1) poor base and (2) a lack of water. Make sure you remove stones and other debris before you lay sod, and make sure you give the sod a good watering. You don't have to keep it overwatered or soaked, as this can be worse than no water.

I'm presently conducting tests with liquid plant food (23-13-17) on sod strips. On the one hand, they are sprayed, and others have the top sides sprayed with the soluble plant food. When we find out more about sod first and in our own yard, we will post along our sod strips. You may find it interesting to see how they do.

When the royals came in, there wasn't much question in Fahey's mind what to do with them. They were devoted to the blues and brick cathedral in India. The exterior of this has now been largely built at a cost of $15,000 — wage rates are low.

Thrust topkicks into the sides to hold the pit above the base of your glass and soon you can see roots emerging along with a tap root. Another way to start is to place the seed in a pot of sand and peat moss, pointing the top of the seed into the pot. The base is held in the water, if you use the water.

After a thick set of roots has formed, enough to reach the bottom of the glass, you can put the seed in a one-third inch mixture of sand, peat and loam. The alligator pear will not fruit indoors but it makes a fine foliage plant. You may have to support the young shoot with a bamboo stake, and feed it once every three weeks with a liquid plant food.

FREE: Want to have a dandy bulletin on growing avocados indoors? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of my free booklet, "How to Grow Pineapples, Figs and Avocados Indoors." You'll be glad you did, because this guide is full of a lot of tips to keep you and the kids busy during the winter months.

TREE ROSES: Is there a fool proof way to keep the tree rose over a winter without going through a lot of extra work? I doubt it. In all but the mildest climates, tree roses must have ample protection. Rose growers feel that the safest way is to take the soil away from one side of the plant, gently bend it over, and completely cover the entire plant with soil, straw, leaves or boughs.

One year I tried wrapping the top of the tree with tarpaper and stuffing the insides with leaves. This failed to bring the tree rose through the winter when the weather dropped to zero and below. So I've concluded that a tree rose is a better way to have leaves, straw or boughs is the safest way to bring a tree rose through the winter. Does anyone have a better way? Please tell us how you do it.

YELLOW-PETUNIAS: Were you disappointed with your yellow petunias this year? Yellow petunias are something new, so don't be too disappointed. They are available as a multiflora (Brass Band) and a grandiflora (Sunburst). Neither one has a very strong yellow color and both tend to fade out in hot weather. This isn't bad. A start has been made in the right direction, and eventually there will be a yellow-petunia that has overcome these faults. All plant breeding is a slow process, and as we've said time and again, it's not unusual for it to take 10 years before a new variety is ready for the public.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS: You can take cuttings of your Christmas cactus now and start new plants for your friends. If you don't have a cactus, you can get one for a dollar. Keep this in mind: Like the Chrysanthemum and Poinsettia, the Christmas Cactus will be in bloom when the days are short. So in fall, the plant must receive no artificial light until about November 1.

If you plan behind a drape or curtain, in fall, it's apt to get just the right amount of light and bloom. In spite of the rules, the Christmas cactus is a very forgiving plant. Most successful gardeners find that if you neglect the Crab cactus it will bloom. They let it go dry, get cold and then it will bloom. It's a child and the thing will bloom, or as one reader says, "It does better under adversity than in prosperity."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. B. of Twin Falls: "Every time we try to grow tulips and daffodils in pots for winter blooms, we have nothing but failure. What's the trick for getting them to grow?"

If you can have daffodils in pots in the house in March or April by planting them in flower pots. For single bulbs, a three or four inch pot is ideal. By using a six or eight inch flower pot, several bulbs may be planted in each pot. Use a mixture of sand and peat or loam. Just let the tips of the bulbs

Italy Fights Three Wars In Own Yard

ROME (AP)—Italy is fighting three wars, all within its own frontiers. In none is victory in sight.

More than 20,000 heavily armed troops and national police are in action against terrorists in the Austrian Tirol, hill bandits in Sardinia, and the Mafia in Sicily.

The toll in lives in the three offshoot regions has run into the hundreds in recent years. Scores of the dead have been soldiers and carabinieri, Italy's army-trained national police.

In three regions have full-scale military operations. Battle-equipped Alpine troops and armored cars operate in the Tirol. In the north, Cavalry roam the wilds of Sardinia. Roadblocks and motorized troops make night raids in Sicily.

Italy took over the Alto Adige from Austria after World War I. Terrorists demand that the region be given back to Austria.

Five thousand Alpine troops and 3,000 carabinieri are there trying to maintain order. But the terrorists are hard to catch.

Italy contends they strike from across the border and are trained, equipped and protected in Germany and Austria by die-hard Nazi groups still dreaming of a new Germany.

Other Italian troops and thousands of carabinieri have orders to stamp out killings, kidnappings and rustling in the rugged mountains of Sicily.

Three thousand police and carabinieri were massed around Nuoro in the province where 500 police were slain in a blood-bath of violence in 1958.

Feud and vengeance killings have continued ever since. Three years of massive army and police crackdown in Sicily have driven underground the loose-knit outlaw alliance of the Mafia but have not wiped it out nor overcome the average Sicilian's fear of its power.

Seven centuries of bloodshed had made the Mafia a law-abiding police crackdown in Sicily bomb slaying of seven policemen aroused Parliament and prompted new laws — and a tougher crackdown.

More than 10,000 soldiers and national police are in action on the island. At least 300 soldiers and police have died in fighting with the outlaws since the war. Palermo alone has had 600 violent deaths since 1951.

Shortage of Pilots Is Now Severe

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT ... Joseph Salisbury Finds Relaxation In Outings With Members of Family

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force and Navy are facing what some military officials describe as a severe shortage of young pilots — a shortage they said may not be eased until the early 1970s.

In a series of interviews, top officers said the shortage is largely due to two factors: the increased U.S. commitment in Viet Nam and the increased demand for trained pilots in the booming airlines industry.

The situation is so serious, some sources said, that within the past two years an estimated 2,000 qualified but nonflying officers — many of them in key administrative positions — were ordered back into the cockpit.

It was learned that the matter is receiving the top attention of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who is now considering an expanded Air Force training program. Current programs will boost the number of pilots 30 years old and younger by approximately 75 per cent over the next three years.

Defense secretary will be handed a similar proposal from the Navy, some qualified sources said.

Despite the overall shortage, top military officials emphasize that all manpower needs in Viet Nam and in the Strategic Air Command are being met. But they concede that elsewhere, things often are not up to par.

The immediate facts are these:

Thousands of Viet Nam pilots are scheduled to be rotated back to the United States this year and must be replaced. Officials indicated that some pilots may have to return for a second tour unless the picture changes by 1969.

The Air Force is planning more extensive use of the F4 Phantom jet, which requires two pilots. In addition, the Air Force hopes to begin using a two-pilot version of the F111 as soon as production of that new jet begins.

The heavy stepup in the air war in one day last week, U.S. pilots flew 100 missions over North Viet Nam involving at least 450 planes and 1,000 sorties as production of that new jet begins.

Through Thursday, a total of 211 Air Force personnel were in Vietnam, most of them presumably pilots, were officially reported as missing in connection with the Viet Nam war.

Many Viet Nam pilots are trained and used on training missions stemming from the many adjustments qualified pilots must make going to Viet Nam and after being rotated back for U.S. duty.

On top of all this, the Air Force and Navy are facing a shortage of pilots in the pilot-re-enlistment ratio, much of it stemming from airlines recruiting.

Large advance for ams Sunday, Sept. 18 (ta403).

Reflecting the concern over pilots, the Air Force and Navy recently surveyed a group of resigning officers to determine the impact of airline recruiting efforts.

The Air Force study showed that 60 per cent of its senior pilots intended to become commercial pilots after separating from the service. A similar survey in 1964 showed that only five per cent of the resigning officers planned to join an airline.

—We expect this trend to continue as a direct relation to the airline need," the study concluded.

The Navy reported in response to a query, that about 60 per cent of its pilots who resigned in the fiscal year that ended last June ended up working for the airlines.

A spokesman for the Air Transport Association, which accumulates data on airline pilots, said about 7,000 pilots have been hired since 1964. When the industry began experiencing huge growth in passenger service, about 70 per cent of the airline pilots are "recruited" from the service, he said, adding that the commercial demand for pilots will continue at least through 1968.

To combat this manpower loss, service officials have begun motivation and other studies to determine why officers leave the service at certain ages and at certain points in their careers.

Although Pentagon officials are reluctant to talk about it, there's another reason for the lagging re-enlistment rates: A few pilots in Viet Nam have turned in their wings rather than fly in the war.

But top officers say that fear of Viet Nam duty is not a major factor. As one put it: "In any outfit you're going to find the working boys and the grumpy boys. As soon as the grumpy ones, the grumpy boys want to get out."

While there are a lot of businessmen who like to sneak away by themselves for a well-earned rest, Joe Salisbury is one who finds relaxation in family get-togethers.

One thing is certain, he says, and that is that the practice has kept him active. The rule of being with the family members on outings prompted his taking up skiing—five years ago (just to keep up with the bunch) and only recently it led to a pack trip into the White Cloud area near Sawtooth Valley. This time the women folk stayed at home and his three sons made the jaunt.

Family living is a way of life with Salisbury and he carries his belief over into the business world and in his church work. He admits that he is interested in just about everything and because of this his main occupation falls right into line. He operates the "Kings-Carpet Travelers" concern in downtown Twin Falls.

His personal travels have been extensive and to name a few places he has visited: the Hawaiian Islands, New York, the Caribbean including Puerto Rico and Jamaica; Mexico City and the sister communities; the Orient including Tokyo, Hong Kong, Viet Nam and Thailand, Paris, Athens, Istanbul, Cairo, Rome and Madrid.

But even with all the comings and goings of his profession, he still has worked in the ski industry which have been put on in Twin Falls. It is a member of the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Club since 1951 and is a former director and has been extremely active in Boy Scout activities over a 15-year period. His three sons are all active in Scouting.

He is, at present, a member of the Twin Falls Planning and zoning commission. He was secretary of the school board planning committee which re-planned the Robert H. Wood Sr. Junior High School and for 10 years he was a member of the Republican Central Committee, having a former precinct committee.

His church work has been extensive. He was one of the youngest individuals to join the Twin Falls LDS Stake. He was called as one of the 12 High Councilmen under the late President of the LDS Church, David O. McKay.

He graduated from the Springfield High School in 1939 and attended Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, where he was a member of the federal service with the Utah National Guard as a member of the 115th Engineers, Combat Engineers Battalion.

While on active duty at Camp San Luis Obispo he applied for and after various tests was accepted for Air Corps pilot training.

He received his wings and a commission with Class 4-B at Williams Field in Arizona in February, 1943.

With a twin engine rating he was sent to transition school at Fort Worth in Texas. Then with the troop carrier command. His first assignment was pulling gliders for members of the air force and army and was sent to Benning, Ga., where he transported paratroopers.

With need for special crews developing in the South Pacific he was sent to Baer Field, Ft. Wayne, Ind., and assigned as pilot of a C-47 rigged for camouflage. After being to Hawaii, Calif., eight—eight—100-gallon fuel tanks were installed in the aircraft. The flight was a little over 13 hours. The jump today takes less than four hours, Salisbury points out.

After a couple of days rest, Salisbury and his crew landed hopped from Honolulu to Australia where they joined the Air Force.

There, when not dodging bullets while flying in an unarmored plane, he transported such things as: food, medicine, jeeps, guns, ammunition, milk, meat, food, native workers and even Japanese prisoners.

During these operations, although 80 hours was the intended maximum.

This period was about the turning point of the war and the troop carrier planes moved up with the advance toward Japan. When Gen. MacArthur's troops first landed on Leyte, Salisbury and other transport pilots dropped supplies there the following day.

He admits he never got "sick" of flying although it was sometimes exciting with no guns for protection. For his efforts he received the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster and the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster.

He was discharged from the service in June, 1945, and almost immediately came down with attacks of malaria. Eventually he was "wore off" and he was none the wiser for want, he laughs.

But, this malaria business does bring back one of the peculiar things that happened ring a war. He was judged to be 50 per cent disabled and was given a pension.

The pension went on for two years and was used to guard against sickness. Salisbury accepted a call as a full-time missionary in the LDS church and was sent to the Northern States Mission in the six states surrounding the Chicago headquarters. The pension money went to sustain him during his missionary work.

Two years in the field as a missionary with down-to-earth contacts and administration of the endeavor among people of all beliefs—as well as his "missionary" experience, convinced him of the existence of a personal God and the establishment on earth of His authority," Salisbury said.

After completion of his mission he again enrolled in college and, through mutual friends, met Mary Whitley, Oakes, at the University of Utah. They were married on Nov. 19, 1948, at the Salt Lake City Temple.

On January 1949, they moved to Twin Falls and he had purchased the small insurance agency founded by the late F. C. Graves. It was from this start that he expanded into the real estate business in 1953.

Salisbury is the father of five children: Joseph Oakes, 16; James Earl, 15; Grant Whitley, 13; Mary Ann, 7, and Julie, five. He lives with his parents at 539 Cindy Drive.

Court Power Is Questioned By Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, facing possible contempt proceedings, challenged the power of federal courts Friday to tell a governor for "his political and social beliefs."

Wallace declined to say what course he might take if a three-judge court holds him in contempt for violation of a two-year-old order against interfering in a contempt citation in a case against a governor for "his political and social beliefs."

That, he told reporters at a news conference, "is a hypothetical question."

He said a motion filed Thursday by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asking for a contempt citation in a case against a governor for "his political and social beliefs" was "another step toward the eventual jailing of political prisoners in this country."

Federal judges "who are not elected by the people can assume the power of jailing a governor who is elected by the people," Wallace said in a prepared statement, "they then in effect 'invalidate the people's vote and their right of self-government.'"

And, he continued, if the courts can send a governor to jail "because of his political and social beliefs, then the time has come when the people must begin to fear the knock on the door in the darkness of the night."

The court has set no date for a hearing on the NAACP motion which asked for a civil contempt citation in a case against a governor for "his political and social beliefs."

At a special meeting of the American Falls board of directors and the American Falls directors of the B. Wood board, it was decided to buy enough extra water to supply American Falls water users through Oct. 7. Water will be turned off at Miller the evening of Oct. 6.

American Falls reservoir contained 64,700 acre feet of water this week compared to 1,000,000 acre feet a year ago.

Reservoir Is Much Lower Than in 1965

SHOSHONE, Wada Wednesday morning, Maglo-Reservoir contained 23,500 acre feet of water. Last year on the same date it was 100,000 acre feet.

The discharge from Maglo has been about 100 second feet more this month than last year. Return flows have been considerably less, requiring a larger discharge this year.

Since Maglo is low, the seepage or leak through the dam will probably be stopped. This means that those people who have depended on this for fast stock water will be without it.

At a special meeting of the American Falls board of directors and the American Falls directors of the B. Wood board, it was decided to buy enough extra water to supply American Falls water users through Oct. 7. Water will be turned off at Miller the evening of Oct. 6.

Manhunt for Itinerant Is Called Off

LANDER, Wyo. (AP) — Fremont County Sheriff C. A. McDonald Friday called off the organized search for 38-year-old Charley Smith, an itinerant ranch hand sought for questioning into the death of a young Duphals ranch wife last Monday night.

McDonald said cowboys, hunters and ranchers will continue to be on the lookout.

Smith is sought in connection with the death of Mrs. Barbara Tilly, an attractive 24-year-old mother of four, whose nude body was discovered Tuesday afternoon by the president of the Dubois Grazing Association, Bill Young, when he came to the ranch house to locate Smith.

Mrs. Tilly's four children, aged one to six, had first discovered the body of their mother early Monday morning. They told authorities they "couldn't wake up mommy."

Authorities said Mrs. Tilly's clothes had been ripped off and scattered around the room, and she was shot in the back of the head with a .25-caliber weapon. An autopsy indicated she had been sexually assaulted.

Construction Work Nears Completion At Big Bluff Area on Rock Creek

Construction work in the Big Bluff Campground area, in the Rock Creek forest area, is under way with completion expected this fall, officials of the Sawtooth National Forest have announced.

The Big Bluff camp area is fairly new. One in the area and records show that the entire section attracted thousands of outdoor enthusiasts during the past season.

Because of intensified construction, there will be more available for campers next year than was available this year.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

Frequently we are called on to exhibit some coin which shows marks not ordinarily found. Such a question comes from Mrs. D. W. Shoshone, and the answer is that the coin is a penny that is different than usual. Could you tell us about it and if it is wanted by a collector? I have a drawing of it on the back of this card. How could it have gotten "flipped" and come out like this — like a mirror writing, or such?

A card is included showing a drawing of a Lincoln cent, upon which the word Liberty appears twice — once in normal position, the second time printed backwards on the right hand side of the obverse of the coin. The letters "In God We Trust" also appear, at least in part, in reverse.

Coins such as these are called "flips" by collectors and are actually mint errors. All our coins go through several inspections, to eliminate such errors, but with the billions of coins being made, they are bound to sneak through, once in a while. I would venture to guess that your Lincoln cent did not get dropped into the collection of the die struck it, and the next coin being impressed, flipped over and under pressure the printing on the obverse was pressed into the other coin. This has happened before, although not often. There are many collectors of these mint errors — indeed, Lincoln cents have been found with great variety of odd characters — strip, once in a while with a staple impressed in their metal.

I am sending a letter with some addresses listed for you to contact. Most of these "flip" coins sell for around $1.00 to $1.50 — although a few have brought a great deal more than that. It depends entirely, of course, on supply and demand. There is a book on the market, listing all the known varieties of mint errors, and possibly yours is listed — in which case you could find the going price. I refer to "Major Variety and Oddity" by R. O. Spadone. The book costs $2.50, and can be purchased at most book stores. There is also the possibility that your error is a "man-made" one and after the coin left the mint. This is done sometimes, for resale to collectors who cannot recognize the genuine mint error. My second letter is from Mr. L. H. Gooding, and he says: "Please be so kind as to send the address of some coin dealer who might be interested in sending me a catalogue with a list of coins they would like to buy."

The gentleman also enclosed a list of silver dollars he is enquiring about, and a self-addressed stamped envelope for a reply, which we will certainly send.

Since from time to time, this request is made of us, I would like to include here some names of reputable dealers who might be interested in purchasing your coins, should any of you care to sell. I am in no way recommending that you sell your collections, nor do I have any interest in any of these firms.

However, — they are honest and can make you a fair offer. You can write to any reputable dealer and ask about your coins. I would intelligently recommend the following:

Dan Brown Coin Shop, Inc., 1632 Broadway, Denver, Colorado 80202; Grayson, Inc., 217 White, Toledo 5, Ohio; E. Strauss, Coin Dealer, 110 Nassau St., New York, N. Y., 10038; These firms are always looking for material, and will offer you full value. Do not be surprised if your coins are not worth as much as you think. A common fault of the average collector is to overgrade his coins. It is much better to consider them worth less — and be pleasantly surprised when you get more for them.

It might interest our readers to know that we have received some Idaho merchant's tokens from "Michigan and Massachusetts" — thus showing how widely they were dispersed.

(Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho.)

Newcomers to the area were introduced to the various activities and socials offered by the many women's groups in Twin Falls at a tea at the Presbyterian Church Fireside Lounge.

Hosts for the event were members of the Twin Falls Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club, with Mrs. Paul Jones as general chairman. Representatives of various local women's clubs were in attendance to explain the opportunities and agendas offered by their organizations.

Activities available for women of the area are varied, with a choice for any individual's taste. More than 100 women's units are in operation in Twin Falls alone, to say nothing of the surrounding communities.

Cheryl Ingle, Engelking Say Nuptial Vow

FILER — Cheryl Lee Ingle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Ingle, Filer, was married to Larry Rex Engelking son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Engelking, Buhl, in rites Aug. 28 at the Filer Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Allen R. Neeson before a background setting of large altar basket of yellow and white gladioli and two large baskets of yellow and white gladioli and spiral candelabra. The aisle was marked with yellow satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Bridal Original. The gown was a silhouette sheath of nylon organza encrusted with scattered Baroque embroidery and a cloud of fullness that formed the chapel train. The scooped neckline was enhanced with delicate embroidery and finished the same as the lily point sleeves. Her elbow-length veil of English-silk tulle was held by a half hat of aluminum lace enhanced with pearl trim.

She carried a white orchid and stephanotis cascade bouquet on a lace covered ribbon. She wore a cultured pearl pendant necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Maid of honor was Shirley Ingle, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Pamela Gardner, Filer; Sharon Torske, Twin Falls; Nanette Bunce, Filer, and Judy Harding, Filer. Flower girl, sister of the bridegroom, was Judy Harding. Ring bearer was Robert Moldenhauer, Filer.

Key Engelking, Nampa, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Charles Winger, Victor; Ken Freisen, Rupert, and Neil Satterwhite, Twin Falls. Ushers included all fraternity brothers of the bridegroom, Tim Barker, Nampa; Michael Mayfield, Burley; Robert Satterwhite, Twin Falls, and Ron Lester, Nampa.

The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Charles Langley, Buhl. Soloist was Howard Moon, Twin Falls.

Guests were regaled by Camille Ramsey, Filer. Gifts were received by Betty Ann Wright, Malta, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Robert Moldenhauer, Filer.

The reception was held in the church social hall. The bride's trousseau was covered with a red and white checkered cloth and centered with the four-tiered wedding cake. The cake was decorated with yellow roses and topped with two satin wedding bells.

Greenery surrounded the base of the cake. Silver chaperons holding yellow tapers and containing bouquets of white chrysanthemums, yellow roses and yellow carnations flanked the cake. Corsages of the same flowers held garlands of greenery in place around the table top. A silver coffee service and a Starburst crystal punch bowl completed the table decor.

Gall Ingle, Seattle, aunt of the bride, served punch; and Mrs. Blaine Wright, Malta, aunt of the bridegroom, served coffee. Mrs. Kay Engelking, Nampa, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Alexis Passino, Idaho Falls, served cake.

Guests attended from Orem, Utah; Seattle; Wash.-Kenilworth; Parma, Nampa; Caldwell, Boise; Mountain Home, Malta, Idaho Falls and communities from the Magic Valley area.

After a wedding trip the couple left for San Antonio, Tex., where the bridegroom is a secretary. The wedding was a secret.

BRIDGE-BY-JACOBY

SAFETY PLAY INSURES SLAM

South rises with dummy's queen of spades at trick one but East covers with the king and South wins with the ace.

The simple play at this point is to lay down the ace of trumps, if the king drops South can claim all the tricks. If it doesn't South will discard his losing ace on one of dummy's high clubs.

The trouble with this line of play is that South will lose the contract if West shows out on that first trump lead.

South has an alternate line of play at his disposal that will guard against that bad trump break. It starts by cashing two high clubs in order to get his acepade discard. Then he leads a trump from dummy. If East follows with the deuce, South simply plays low from his own hand. If West wins with the king or jack, South will pick up the last trump later on. If West shows out, South will cash his ace of trumps and concede one trick.

If East fails to follow to that trump lead, South takes his ace and leads a second trump toward dummy.

This constitutes a perfect safety play in the trump suit because it guards against the loss of two trump tricks irrespective of how the trumps divide.

It does lose the contract for South if West holds the singleton king or jack of trumps and East is void of diamonds or against 8-8 or 7-4 club breaks, but the chance of one of these bad breaks is much less than the chance of finding East with all three trumps so the trump safety play is preferable.

Why do they spend unaccountable hours preparing a program, cooking, sewing or giving time on innumerable projects . . . all for the good of their organization?

Find out these answers, plus many interesting facets of club activity throughout Magic Valley in the special

COMING IN THE TIMES-NEWS
OCTOBER 19.

And have you ever wondered what women do when they go to club? Husbands, no doubt, have long agreed that the principal purpose is to talk, but stories in our special Woman's World edition will indicate the wide variety of projects and interests of women in all walks of life.

Everyone knows most social clubs have worthwhile projects, such as contributing to charitable drives, donating to missions, raising money for many projects. But stories gathered by Times-News correspondents across Magic Valley will describe many of the diverse projects different women's groups have tackled.

Families who have lost their homes in fire, children needing eye examinations or an iron lung, hospital patients needing personal attention . . . these and many more have been given a boost through the dedicated and determined efforts of some women's club.

How have women raised money for their projects? In addition to the usual card selling, baked food sales and even fines. Did you know one group sent news to the Times-News as an extra way to swell their treasury?

While many men, and uninitiated non-club women, may cling to their idea that the subject matter of most women's groups is lightweight, readers of the Woman's World edition will be amazed to find the breadth of interest of many church and professional women's groups.
